Progressive, rooted in tradition

Champion Mill

Step into history at the Champion Mill State Historical Site.

Established in 1888, Champion Mill is the last functional water-powered mill in Nebraska. It stands as a symbol of the settlement and development of Nebraska and the west. The Mill's cracking rollers and storage and mixing equipment are still functional, powered by the water turbine. The old mill pond provides power and recreational opportunities today just as it did in 1888. The Champion Lake State Recreation Area has primitive campsites for those at one with nature. The lake is limited to no motor only, so bring your canoes and enjoy a relaxing afternoon in the sun.
